

Blood Money

J. Raath

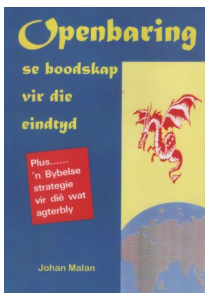

Johan Raath and a security team were escorting American engineers to a power plant south of Baghdad when they were ambushed. He had first arrived in Iraq only two weeks before. This was a small taste of what was to come over the next 13 years he worked there as a private military contractor (PMC).

His mission? Not to wage war but to protect lives.

Raath acted as a bodyguard for VIPs and, more often, engineers who were involved in construction projects to rebuild the country after the 2003 war. His physical and mental endurance was tested to the limit in his efforts to safeguard construction sites that were regularly subjected to mortar and suicide attacks. Key to his survival was his training as a Special Forces operator, or Recce. Working in places called the Triangle of Death and driving on the 'Hell Run', Raath had numerous hair-raising experiences. As a trained combat medic he also helped to save people's lives after two suicide bomb attacks on sites he then worked at.

Openbaring se boodskap vir die eindtyd

J. Malan

"En die hele wêreld het verwonderd agter die dier aan gegaan. En hulle het die draak aanbid wat die dier mag gegee het" (Op 13:3-4)

Die wêreld stuur op die donkerste uur in sy ganse geskiedenis af. Jesus Christus het van die tyd gesê: "Want dan sal daar groot verdrukking wees soos daar van die begin van die wêreld af tot nou toe nie gewees het en ook nooit sal wees nie" (Matt.24:21). Lees in die boek van die komende sataniese skrybewind van die Antichris, en hoedat hierdie donker tydperk deur 'n valse vrede ingelui sal word. Neem ook kennis van 'n sekere wyse hoedat u dit kan ontvlug. Vir almal wat hulleself middle-in die uur van die duisternis sal bevind, is 'n spesiale hoofstuk bygevoeg, nl. 'n Bybelse strategie vir dié wat agterbly. 107 bls., SB., R170

Studies in the social and economic History of the Witwatersrand 1886 – 1914-2 New Nineveh van C. Onselen,

Van Onselen's book tells the story of how the ruling classes gradually came to assert their control over the subordinate classes of the Witwatersrand and to exercise a powerful influence over where they lived, how they spent their non-working hours, how domestic labour was allocated, and how they were to endure periods of unemployment. Sensitive to the wider structures of society as much as to the often harsh reality of daily life for the underprivileged and dispossessed, these two volumes at the same time circle—with imagination and insight—the struggle of groups of people seeking to find a place of dignity and security within a capitalist world over which they had little control

Buffalo Battalion

L. J. Bothma

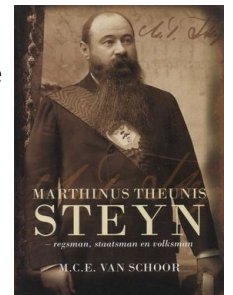

By August 1974 the Portuguese had all but abandoned Angola, its erstwhile colony, and there was a fear in both the Intelligence services of South Africa and America that the country was likely to fall into the hands of the MPLA, generally regarded as a Soviet surrogate. It was that fear that triggered the training by South Africa of guerrilla groups opposed to

MPLA. One group of FNL guerrillas trained by Recce Colonel Jan Breytenbach, later known as Bravo Group, was re-infiltrated back into Angola as part of South Africa's Task Force Zulu. It was this unit which would later form the genesis of South Africa's elite and much feared 32-Battalion. 32-Battalion became the backbone of all SADF operations launched across the Namibian border into a hostile Angola. 537 p., SC., R360

Hendrik Frensch Verwoerd South Africa's Greatest Prime Minister S. M. Goodson

Dr. Verwoerd has been unjustly condemned as the architect of apartheid, when it was in fact the official policy of successive Dutch and British colonial administrations. Dr. Verwoerd gave apartheid a new name, a different meaning and dimension and implemented it in a far more humane manner for the benefit of everyone. Separation at social level, mutual co-operation in the economic sphere and scope for the indigenous Bantu peoples to obtain their freedom and independence at their own pace, unhindered by the depredations of the super capitalists and international bankers. These policies received widespread support throughout all population groups and were a reflection of an economy growing at 6% per annum and a Black unemployment rate of 5%. Amongst Black people Dr. Verwoerd was accorded the highest accolades with the titles of Rapula, the rainmaker who brings the good things in life, and Sebeloke, the protector of the people. Dr. Verwoerd would not tolerate any interference in the internal affairs of South Africa and it was his determination to destroy the subversive activities of the international money power, which contributed to his demise and the eventual downfall of South Africa. To-day the country is an abject colony of the international bankers and, not surprisingly, experiences the greatest disparity in income distribution in the world. 144 S., SC., R180

Marthinus Theunis Steyn

M.C.E. van Schoor

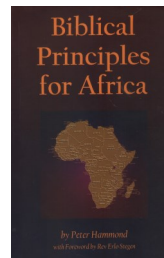

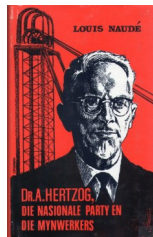

Hoewel meer as een biografie oor dié laaste president van die Oranje-Vrystaat in die jare kort ná sy dood verskyn het, bied prof. Van Schoor in hierdie werk besondere insig in die karakter en menswees van hierdie geliefde staatsman. Die leser word op boeiende wyse betrek by Marthinus Theunis Steyn se kleurvolle lewensverhaal: hoe hy nooit sy herkoms as Vrystaatse plaasseun verraai het nie en selfs as president in voeling met die eenvoudigste Boere gebly het; hoe hy sy uitmergelende siekte met volharding bly beveg het en hoe sy geloof in God en sy liefde vir sy gesin en sy erfgrond hom in tye van beproewing staande gehou het. 448 bls., SB., R 300

Dr A.Hertzog, Die Nasionale Party en die Mynwerkers

L. Naudé

Op 26 Mei 1948 het die Nasionale Party onder leiding van dr.D.F.Malan aan die bewind gekom. Sy meerderheid was net vyf bo die gesamentlike kragte van die Opposisie. Tot hierdie oorwinning het die werkerstem, en veral die stem van die Afrikanermynwerker aan die Rand 'n belangrike bydrae gelewer- miskien dié belangrikste. Waar die Nasionale Party voor die verkiesing net twee setels aan die Rand gehad het, het die mynwerkerstem op 26 Mei 1948 ses bykomende setels aan die Nasionale Regering gegee.

Biblical Principles for Africa

P. Hammond

The question is often asked: why is Africa so beset by such enormous problems and tragedies? War, poverty, disease and now the killer which threatens to wipe out millions of Africans, HIV/AIDS. What are the reasons for our continent topping lists of needy countries for handouts by other successful nations? Why shouldn't Africa itself be a provider for other developing nations in Asia and South America? The prosperity of every nation depends on how it responds to Biblical principles. Poverty and misery are guaranteed when God's Word is deliberately neglected. In the same way blessings and prosperity are assured for all peoples who take God's commands seriously. This is plainly declared in Deuteronomy 28. In this eternally valid promise God vows that He will set that nation "high above all the nations of the earth" if they "diligently observe all His commandments". The blessings in the next 13 verses will "overtake" the person and that nation which carefully observes Biblical principles. The same Scripture passage also promises all manner of awful consequences upon those who do not obey God's commandments. The evidence of verses 14 to 68 can be observed every day. Biblical Principles for Africa is a manual on the way of blessing, for individuals, nations, Africa and the world. The author, Dr Peter Hammond, is not writing about theories that are of no earthly use. He has worked for over twenty-five years in African nations, has observed the cultures, problems and sins which destroy millions of lives. The principles in this book are based on the tried and proved principles of God's Word. I advise you to study this book for yourself, promote it in your church, send it to family and friends, and give copies to government officials in your area. If people in Africa begin to practise the values found in Biblical Principles for Africa then we can truly pray 'Nkosi Sikelela iAfrica'. Rev. Erlo Stegen, Director of KwaSizabantu Mission 94 p., SC., R85

Maverick Insider

J. Copelyn
 In 1973 the trade union movement was both racially and regionally divided. It virtually excluded African workers, and in many cases unions were led by cautious and paternalistic leaders, long schooled in avoiding confrontation with either the state or employers. Then widespread strikes erupted in Durban where hundreds of thousands of workers downed tools in support of wage demands. It was a militant explosion unprecedented since the apartheid government had crushed and outlawed mass demonstrations against segregation and 'whites-only' rule. And it provided the impetus for the next decade and a half of trade union organisation, which succeeded in uniting workers on a largely non-racial basis, dominated by the slogan 'one industry one union'.
Maverick Insider is an anecdotal, insider's account of the transformation during this period in the textile, clothing and leather worker sectors. It focuses on the outlooks of leadership groups in different parts of that industry and their efforts to influence the nature of the amalgamation of six unions to form the Southern African Clothing and Textile Workers' Union (SACTWU), one of the three largest unions of the Congress of South African Trade Unions (COSATU). It traces the interaction between union leadership and both political parties and community organisations dedicated to making the country ungovernable, as well as those who were determined to stamp out such calls. It details struggles to unite workers across political divides in the same union organisation and to assert an independent working-class point of view in a period of growing African nationalism. It details the traumatic events on the road to the so-called peaceful miracle that created a rainbow nation but left 22 000 South Africans dead in the process. And it is the story of a team of people who set out to change the world and formed an unshakeable bond in the process. 396 p., SC., R275 last copy

The tall Assassin
A.D. Elsdon
 General Hendrik van den Bergh, the former head of the Security Police and later head of the Bureau of State Security (BOSS), was for many, the most feared man in South Africa. He was brilliant and a noted personality among Cold War spies. Locally he reigned in terror and this book, by a former member of the Security Police, implicated him in a large number of murders, some sensational to this day. They include:
 The assassination of dr. HF Verwoerd (Prime Minister of RSA)
 The death of Nic Diederichs (State President of RSA)
 The death of Steve Biko (Black Consciousness leader)
 The assassination of Anton Lubowski (Executive member of SWAPO)
 The assassination of Prof. Johan Heyns (Dutch-Reformed theologian).

One of the most intriguing murders to which this book links Van den Bergh are the deaths of National Party candidate dr. Robert Smit and his wife in 1977. The author offers a compelling yet convincing explanation for the meaning of the mysterious words painted at the murder scene: “RAU TEM” and provides photographs to support his assertion. 240 p., SC., R300

Sy evaluasie van sulke mense kan waarde hê vir lesers wat verder ver wyder van hulle staan. The new unhappy Lords

A. K. Chesterton

As ever more people emerge from the prolonged state of lethargy to find the old familiar world destroyed, the once cherished values scorned, the signposts to what had seemed an assured national future obliterated, they ask in bewilderment: "What is behind it all?" Jolted into an awareness of mysterious forces at work causing universal confusion and chaos, their next question swiftly follows: "Who is behind it all?" The New Unhappy Lords endeavours to answer both questions, revealing much of the secret history of our times and exposing the conspiracy which shapes that history to dragoon mankind into a One World dictatorship. The New Unhappy Lords is essential reading for patriots brave enough to face harsh facts and fight for the sovereign independence of their countries against the immense might of their internationalist enemies. 255 p., SC., R 80 published 1970
